

whitewall

On Monday at the Museum of Modern Art, the Art Students League of New York held its annual gala, honoring the artist and alumna Faith Ringgold and the New York City Department of Parks & Recreation Commissioner Susan Donoghue for their support of the organization. Welcoming guests to the fête were chairs Robin Lechter Frank, Dr. Ronald Frank, and Jon Kamen, and the Artistic and Executive Director of the league, Michael Hall who started the evening off with cocktails under alumna Barbara Kruger's Thinking of You. I Mean Me. I Mean You. Following live demonstrations from artists of the league, we saw guests (like Beth Rudin DeWoody, Willie Cole, Marc Dennis, Lady Pink, and Kamrooz Aram) come together for dinner, wherein Michael Hall and Tschabalala Self addressed the crowd. While the evening came to a close with a performance from Simone Dinnerstein, the online auction will continue through November 15.

Aliso Sikelianos, Cortez, Sean Desiree, Sally Hughes, Jeffrey Maris, and Michael Hall at the Art Students League of New York's Annual Gala at the MoMA; photo by Michael Olorun / PMC.