

letters@nypost.com

Spies' Election Sabotage: Covering for the Bidens

THE ISSUE: An ex-CIA director's testimony on the letter from 51 intel experts on The Post's Hunter Biden story.

• The blatant revelation by a former top director of a government agency marks the beginning of the end ("Spy-Media Collusion," Editorial, April 22).

Testimony by former acting CIA Director Mike Morrell is the trigger of an impending "domino effect." We can expect many more individuals to be coming forward voluntarily as whistleblowers or by subpoena as the investigation of this debacle widens.

The house of cards is falling fast, and the players will be jockeying to sever ties with this administration to save face.

Ronald G. Frank
West Orange, NJ

• The words "dirty pool" came to mind after it was revealed that the letter signed by 51 notable government people was created out of whole cloth to sway voters on behalf of President Biden.

The underhanded move gave Biden an unfair advantage through devious means. While this act does not fit the statutory definitions of election interference, it nonetheless had the same effect. The only saving grace now is the fact that the

Mike Morell

Biden clan who have been identified as receiving payments from foreign governments collectively lack the talent or expertise needed to have earned those payments.

The only explanation can be that they had access to the decision-maker, the "Big Guy."

The Justice Department, for its part, must also be held accountable for its lack of action in this case. Sometimes the coverup is bigger than the crime.

Bo Madda
Jupiter, F

truth has surfaced. And that the signers of this document will bear the stigma of having knowingly sold their souls for political gain and damaged the American democratic process we cherish.

Phil Serpico, Queens

• As the evidence of Biden family corruption and influence-peddling continues to pile up, the Justice Department will continue to act uninterested. At some point, when this whole thing blows wide open, it will be forced to act.

The members of the

• Another person should be called to testify on the Democratic campaign to spread about their opponent to cover up the shortcomings is reporter Natasha

She was the nationalist to spread about the S and then th by those Hunter's Is she a prop Demo

KPOST
Published daily newspaper

Job, Joe?

He bizarrely, falsely claims to know what it's like to have "a house burn down with my life in it" and to be arrested as a civil-rights activist.
His bigger lies are worse: His botched Afghanistan pullout was an unprecedented success." Inflation would be temporary; the Biden lies to himself, too: He thinks he's done a great job and the nation needs him to save it from Donald Trump — though Trump's likely the only GOP foe he can beat. He'll never admit his age disqualifies him. And his handlers won't, either, because they're happy wielding the real power.
Americans see the problem: More than half of Democrats don't want him to run. Yet this ethically challenged octogenarian with a disastrous record and 54% disapproval is likely the best Dems can field.
As Rich Lowry notes, Biden's fecklessness makes him seem unthreatening — and thus an excellent cover for insanely left-wing policies. So the party's clearing the way for him, rearranging the primaries to avoid any surprise in Iowa or New Hampshire and so far not even scheduling any Democratic debates.
Yes, he's so weak that mystic Marianne Williamson or crank RFK Jr. could show him up. The "Weekend at Bernie's" campaign is officially under way.

Good, Bad & Ugly

move up the wage ladder.
• Cigarette taxes will rise by $1 per pack, a boon to the black market, and a menthol flavor ban is still under discussion.
Ugly
... to let 100 new charter ... Twenty